Patton's Death Caused By Blow on Head

PORTAGEVILLE — Cause of death of Alfred Patton, 40, operator of an auction business, whose decomposed body was found Tuesday was from a blow in the back of the head near the base of the skull from an unidentified object, according to New Madrid County Coroner Gene Clayton.

X-rays were made of the body and a report given by the Missouri Delta Community hospital on Sikeston. Dr. Ernie Sandidge made the examination. Clayton said there were no bullet wounds. Two holes on the back of the neck which appeared to be bullet wounds, Clayton said, were body disintegration from heat, rain and exposure. No signs of any physical struggle, either on the body or at the scene, were found. Clayton said Patton's clothes were not disarranged; his shirt was buttoned and his shoes and socks were intact. Patton had been missing since July 31 when he failed to return home after keeping an appointment with an unidentified person at Hickory Village at Portageville. Patton's car and car keys were found on the parking lot.

Investigating officers, including state highway patrol, New Madrid county sheriff's office, and Portageville police are reported to know the identity of the man with whom Patton left the parking lot. No one has been taken into custody for questioning. Patton pleaded guilty July 18, 1969, in Pemiscot county circuit court to four charges of possession of stolen property and three charges of selling stolen property. The cases were taken under advisement by Judge William L. Ragland. No further orders have been made in the cases according to the Pemiscot county circuit clerk's office.

Patton had been arrested on the charges in New Madrid county. The cases were transferred in December, 1967, to Pemiscot county on changes of venue.

He appeared in court without counsel after his attorney withdrew from the case.

U.S. Cutting Saigon Area Troops by 15,000

SAIGON (AP) — American forces in the Saigon military region are being cut by about 15,000 men as the result of a major reshuffling of allied units and the transfer of a large base to the Vietnamese, official sources disclosed today.

The sources said two full brigades plus other units would be shipped home from Saigon and the 11 surrounding provinces of the 3rd Military Region. Men who have not completed most of their 12-month tours in Vietnam will be transferred to other units.

Security regulations prohibit publication of the units to be sent back to the United States until the U.S. Command announces them.

Elsewhere in the war—Small ambush actions and mopping up operations were reported along the northern coast where U.S. and South Vietnamese forces claimed they killed more than 300 North Vietnamese in fighting Wednesday and Thursday.

The largest allied casualties reported today occurred about 65 miles northwest of Saigon when mortar rounds fired by an American unit accidentally landed on a South Vietnamese position. Eleven government troops were killed, and 24 advisers were wounded.

One harassing action was reported in Cambodia. A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese apparently were occupied with integrating newly arrived reinforcements.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams returned from convalescent leave with his family in Thailand and resumed his duties as commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. His gall bladder was removed in Japan July 3.

In the major reshuffle of allied forces in the Saigon region, all American combat units except one brigade have been pulled back from the Cambodian border. Most of them have been moved to the northeast and east of Saigon, inland from the South China Sea.

South Vietnamese forces have replaced the Americans along the border west and northwest of Saigon to block North Vietnamese infiltrators, and the Tay Ninh base camp 55 miles northwest of the capital has been turned over to the South Vietnamese 18th Infantry Division. Only a few hundred U.S. support troops remain at Tay Ninh, which once was the base for two American brigades.

While the South Vietnamese army carries out the blocking role in and along the frontier, the protection of the 3.5 million persons living in villages and hamlets in the region is assigned to the militiamen of the Territorial Forces and People's Self-Defense units.

Lt. Gen. Michael S. Davison, commander of American forces in the 3rd Military Region, said his troops are concentrating on destroying enemy stockpiles brought into South Vietnam before the allied sweep.

Tension Heightened By Israeli Raids in Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli negotiations with the Arabs air force planes struck at following Egypt's reported movement of missiles. The sources indicated, following a day of consultations among top government leaders, that the Israeli government feels no progress can be made in the talks until the missile issue is assistance to Palestinian guerrillas in attacks against Israeli frontier settlements.

A spokesman said the Jordanian army "assists the terrorists and makes it possible for them to act against Israeli civilians." A spokesman earlier had announced that Israeli Air Force jets crossed the border and bombed and strafed Arab guerrilla targets inside Jordan for the second straight day today. The Tel Aviv spokesman said those raids were in response to mortar attacks on two Jewish settlements.

The planes all returned safely after hitting objectives adjacent to Israel's Beisan Valley, he said. Dayan told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the United States bears a "heavy Thursday night, but no damage was reported. Defense Minister Moshe Maoz Haim and Yardena came under mortar fire during States bears a "heavy Thursday night, but no damage was reported.

This was the second Israeli air strike inside Jordan since the Middle East cease-fire went into effect a week ago. The guerrilla organizations have disowned the truce initiated by the United States as a preliminary to peace talks. Reports from Amman said Jordanian authorities have tightened security measures to prevent Arab commandos from kidnapping diplomats, foreigners or government officials.

Informant said the guerrillas may resort to this tactic to sabotage the U.S. peace plan. Two Beirut newspapers also reported that King Hussein of Jordan has warned his armed forces to be on the alert because subversives were plotting to assassinate him and other Jordanian officials. Cairo newspapers gave major coverage to Israeli charges that Egypt has moved several missile batteries closer to the Suez Canal.

But the papers did not carry any official confirmation or denial of the charges. Authoritative sources in Jerusalem said Israel will assume a harder stance toward peace talks. The association also recommended that the fine for overtime parking be raised to $1. It is now 50 cents.

The proposals will be presented to the city council. Because of a recent rash of fires in the downtown area, the association also discussed the possibility of an improvement in the trash pickup service.

special U.N. envoy for the Middle East, Gunnar Jarring, as go-between.

Dayan said Israel has demanded that the United States see to it that the missiles are withdrawn to their previous positions. He also made the text of the truce agreement public for the first time and said the Egyptians violated the "key clause," calling for no change in the military status for 30 miles on either side of the canal, and for neither side to "introduce or construct any new military installations in these zones."

He later sent a formal complaint to Maj. Gen. Ensis Silvasuo, the Finnish chief of the U.N. observer team in the Middle East, claiming the Egyptians had introduced a "significant number" of missiles as close as 12 miles to the canal.

The government might not name a representative for the talks until it got satisfaction on the missile issue. Asked about this, Foreign Minister Abba Eban said the government considers it "most important" to clarify the matter with the United States.

The government received information earlier this week, and passed it on to Washington, that the Egyptians had moved several SAM antiaircraft missile batteries to sites 12 and 18 miles from the canal soon after the current cease-fire began last Friday night. Egyptian officials in Cairo denied the report. Defense Minister Moshe Maoz Haim and Yardena came under mortar fire during States bears a "heavy Thursday night, but no damage was reported.

The dead are Gracie Thompson Smith, 73, driver of a 1970 Dodge, and a passenger in her car, Virgie B. Noe, about 70, both of Louisville, Ky.

If everyone in your family is well and you know when you go to bed at night that you will sleep until morning without disturbance, you have so much to be thankful for that you shouldn't stop to dust the floor before kneeling.

WHO'S DOING THE BOOK BURNING?

Folks looking for clues as to why some of the youth of today are "copping out" might be interested in a news item we found, while rummaging around, in some old files dated 1962. Now, that's eight years ago, which means that kids starting High School then would just about be coming out of college this year.

The clipping told of a survey that had been made whereby 14 "old" public school history books had been compared with 45 "new" ones.

It turned out that Nathan Hale's famous speech from the gallows, "I have but one life to lose for my country," was in 12 of the 14 earlier books. But it had been censored from all but one of the 45 newer texts.

Then the surveyors looked for Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death." While it was in 12 of the earlier school history books, it showed up in only one of the newer ones.

And John Paul Jones' most famous words, "I have not yet begun to fight." This altogether shocking declaration by war-monger Jones was in nine of the 14 older books. But in the 45 newer texts, not a single word was to be found; it had been banished completely from history.

This year, the extremely powerful education lobby all but broke down the doors of our representatives in Washington with their demands for Federal money... millions of dollars. This allocation was included in the HEW funds voted by Congress. And that goes on top of billions of taxpayer dollars turned over to "education" over the past few years.

Noting the results, we're beginning to wonder if the Federal Government hadn't better get out of the education business altogether, and just leave the money in the local communities to be handled by the citizenry. Frankly, we have a lot more confidence in our own school board, school officials and PTA folks than we have in the nameless, faceless "experts" who have apparently been chopping American heroes out of our history text books.

No man is so dull he cannot invent an excuse for being conceited.

RUSSIA AND CHINA: A NEW FACTOR

A new factor has arisen in the Far East. China has found -- and is developing -- oil in considerable quantity and Manchuria. She is now independent of imported oil.

The strategic importance of Manchuria in the Sino-Soviet confrontation has therefore been drastically changed. In the event of a conflict it will be the greatest importance for Russia to seize or destroy these oil fields, and for China it will be vital to hold them, according to Intelligence Digest.

Up to now, Sinkiang province, which is the site of China's nuclear installations, has been Russia's natural target. The new oil and petroleum complex in Manchuria, however, must inevitably affect Russia's strategic thinking. On the other hand, Manchuria is far more easy for China to defend than Sinkiang.

Any Russian attack on Manchuria will bring the risk of a Chinese attempt to cut off Vladivostok, the base and nerve-center of the Soviet Far East fleet. But that is the risk Russia would have to accept if she decided to try to knock out the oil complex between Tsitsihar and Harbin.

A new element of uncertainty has therefore been introduced. The question is-- how seriously would the Chinese Army be crippled by the loss of the oil? That is what must now be decided by the Soviet military strategists.

For once, the problem for the western powers as to what to do in event of a Sino-Russian war is a simple one. The answer is that they should do exactly nothing. They should remain completely aloof.

Reported in the St. Louis, Missouri, County Medical Society Bulletin, as it appeared in an ad by Warner and Swasey: "Boys will be boys" is, perhaps, enough excuse for a harmless Halloween prank, but emphatically no excuse for burning buildings, disrupting a big city's traffic, interfering with the majority of students who want an education, nor supporting our country's vicious enemies. It may well be, as some say, that these people are hardened thugs in the pay of foreign revolutionary groups who want to weaken and destroy America, but whether this is true or not, we think the working, taxpaying, respectable Americans who are the ones whose opinions are worth considering, are sick and tired of the trouble makers and don't intend to have much more of it. And the great majority of the young people agree."

WOULD YOU BELIEVE...

The recent death of Alexander Kerensky got small mention in the national news and possibly escaped the notice of many. But his passing brings to mind one of the phoniest of all Communist myths. The Communists would have you believe that they, under Lenin, in 1917 overthrew the oppressive rule of the Tsar of Russia. However, the Tsar had been replaced months earlier by a democratic government headed by Kerensky. The Bolsheviks forcibly overthrew the Kerensky government in a military - style coup. The short-lived Kerensky government was the only democracy ever experienced by the Russian people. That government was overthrown by communism.

BEHAVING LIKE LEMMINGS

An official of a leading ethical drug manufacturing concern has made the observation that the drug industry is the most maligned, misinterpreted and most regulated of any industry in the country. He says it has become the "whipping boy" for agencies of government. These are strong sentiments, but anyone who is familiar with the endless investigations and harassment of the drug companies will wholeheartedly concur in the conclusions of this member of the beleaguered drug industry. Ironically, it is the high performance of the industry that has made it a target of critics. The manifold discoveries in its research laboratories that have led to scores of lifesaving drugs have created a rich field for the investigators to probe -- a field that would simply not exist if the industry had rested on its laurels 30 or 40 years ago.

Even as drug firms have become whipping boys or probers, the health of our people, thanks to the efforts of those very firms, has steadily risen. In the words of the drug official, "Whole areas of disease have been wiped out entirely, and others have been slowed down. The quarantine signs that used to be so common in our country -- for scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, and other diseases -- have disappeared. Pneumonia, which used to be a dreaded killer, usually is conquered now by an application of antibiotics. ... In 1930, average life expectancy was only 59 years. By 1940 it had risen to 62, and today it stands at almost 70." And incidentally, the prices of these drugs have declined 10 per cent in less than ten years, while the cost of everything else has continued to rise.

History is replete with cases of peoples destroying themselves through their own folly. "And make it an independent government-owned operation run like a modern business enterprise. This new U.S. Postal Service will be self-supporting with the regulation of postal increases decided by expert rate commissioners, just as in any public utility. If we seize this opportunity to introduce these reforms, gone will be the days of bigger deficits and mounting postage costs along with slower delivery and poorer service."

She lived alone,
She died alone,
No runs, no hits, no errors.

A prisoner was banging his plate against his cell bars. The warden walked by. "If you don't stop the rumpus," he threatened, "I won't tell you what year this is."

Let's keep in mind the old French proverb: "That day is lost in which one has not laughed."

"Your finances are in terrible shape," the banker stated. "Your checking account is overdrawn; your loan is overdue -- why do you allow your wife to spend more money than you make?"

"Frankly," replied the man with a deep sigh, "because I'd rather argue with you than with her."

The whiskey and other spirits are seized by Customs and Revenue agents at ports of entry, or on raids inside the country when its owners seek to avoid federal taxes. When Treasury can find the man who claims it, he gets a chance to prove it's legal.

If no one claims it, the bottles go to federal hospitals for medicinal use, to charitable organizations for similar purposes or, as is often the case, to federal agencies for entertainment.

The only wrinkle in the gift of the liquor, which is handled by the General Services Administration, is the partying must be official, not personal.

In fiscal 1970, the Defense Department got 1,382 fifths, the State Department got 1,050, and the Department of the Interior got 699. Small quantities also went to the National Science Foundation, the Commerce Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

POSTAL REFORM
"President Nixon has proposed a plan that would take the Post Office out of politics," said Rep. Wiley Mayne (R-Iowa), "and make it an independent government-owned operation run like a modern business enterprise. This new U.S. Postal Service will be self-supporting with the regulation of postal increases decided by expert rate commissioners, just as in any public utility. If we seize this opportunity to introduce these reforms, gone will be the days of bigger deficits and mounting postage costs along with slower delivery and poorer service."

"I am going to deliver a speech," he said. "Do you usually find that you get very nervous before addressing a large audience?"

"Nervous? No, I never get nervous," he answered, smiling. "In that case," asked the woman, "what are you doing in the Ladies' Room?"

Mother: I want you to be good while I'm out shopping. Youngster: I'll be good for a quarter.

Mother: You'll listen to me and be good for nothing.

Not Upkeep but Initial Cost
The most expensive yacht in the soon-to-open 60th National Boat Show in New York will be the 44-foot Triple Cabin of Hatteras.

It sells for $103,595 - and that doesn't include gas or oil, which may discourage some buyers.

But as the Cadillac salesman said to the doubtful tirekicker, if you gotta ask about gas consumption, you're out of your league, buddy.

The political situation being what it is, everybody's wondering what it is.

Berryman adds that he feels the $9,000 would "more than cover our needs" for contributions.

"Those bankers who have successful programs," he says, "all state that it cannot be done on a voluntary basis. A certain degree of persuasion has to occur."

"PROTECTION"
The memo concedes that there are "legal problems involved" in the contribution scheme. But it notes soberly that the bank's earnings depend heavily on "the level of our public funds."

Reached at his office, President Laub acknowledged that by "public funds" the memo meant money deposited in the bank by government agencies.

Asked what was the relationship between these deposits and political contributions, Laub at first said there was none. Then he reluctantly conceded that the political giving was "defensive"--that is, an effort to protect government deposits.

The bank's total deposits are $1.2 billion.

Despite the systematic arrangement proposed in the memo, Laub insisted that the contributions were "absolutely voluntary. I wish there was a way we could put the arm on the boys. But we can't, as you well know."

"Officers can even designate the candidates who will receive their money. The funds are then used for dinner tickets, things like that. It amounts to political fund raising. We've had our attorneys check it out in every way."

He then outlines a proposal which would give each of the bank's 107 officers receiving salaries of $15,000 or more a $5,000 "deduction." The bank would then "assess on the basis of one half of one per cent of the remainder" to raise political funds.

WHEN TROUBLE STRIKES

The mounting crime rate of recent years brings home to more ordinary, good working citizens every day the fact that the odds are zooming upwards that someone in their family may become a crime statistic. When crime hits someone's own family, it is no longer a statistic. Crime then becomes a terrifying, traumatic and possibly deadly confrontation with evil.

In times of trial, our Republic has been preserved in the past by the concerted action of dedicated and concerned citizens. In any republic, nothing less will save the people and their freedom. Republics seem to do best when the danger is clear and present and coming from some outside aggressor.

It is the insidious growth of inner weaknesses which imperil our Republic USA at this time, and we have never had to face any such situation of so many varieties of crime and immorality all striking at once. If our Republic is to survive, the good working people in all walks of life will have to save it. The new book HALT CRIME! by Life Line commentator Melvin Munn may help turn the tide against crime.

By organizing now to encourage each other to work against crime and to let our government officials and information media know we demand an end to coddling crime, we can support the law and the officials we have chosen to protect us. This way we can avoid the necessity of building walls around our homes and putting armor on our family cars because the law can no longer protect anyone. Some good advice for today's confused times might be: If you don't like policemen, next time you're in trouble, call a hippie! HLLH.

AIR CUSHION TRAVEL: Volpe Tells of Vertical Cities in the Sky And Tourist Fun-Seeking Space Travel Packets

There is hope for the unhappy commuter--in about 50 years. Well, perhaps sooner, says the nation's transportation chief.

It will have to come sooner. Megalopolises reach out to other megalopolises. The big city sprawl is a grim growth. Traffic stalls. Fumes waft up scores of floors even onto the heights of skyscrapers.

Cars stand bumper to bumper and sarcasmic weekend or daily drivers call major highways the longest parking lots in the world.

But the day is coming when we'll ride on air-cushioned vehicles or we'll swoosh to far-off places in a few minutes and the world will become just one big community for lunching on one continent and dining on another thousands of miles distant.

At least so does Secretary of Transportation Volpe say of the future of travel, from home to office to playground and back. I asked him just how this will develop. Here is his reply written exclusively for this column.

By John Volpe
Secretary of Transportation

WASHINGTON--What lies ahead for transportation in the 21st century? Of one thing I'm sure: Technology will provide only part of the answer. A century ago John Muir said, "When we try to pick out anything by itself we find it hitched to everything in the universe." Certainly that's true of our transportation systems--how we travel in the distant tomorrow will depend largely upon the shapes, sizes, and sensibilities of the cities they're hitched to, and vice versa.

Put yourself in this scene, for instance: You step out on the terrace to check the weather. The morning is bright and clear up here but looking down you can see there's a heavy ground fog. Junior had better take the underground back to college instead of driving.

You drop down a hundred floors to your office. Or you go still another hundred to your job in the underground power plant. Meanwhile the twins hike halfway around the inner core to their classes, and your wife plans to go up a flight to the beauty shop.

That's one man's idea for tomorrow's living. The noted architect Paolo Soleri would have us think in terms of vertical cities--maybe eventually 200 or 300 stories high--as an alternative to today's urban sprawl.

Admittedly far in the future, these would be not just separate skyscrapers but fully integrated cities on a single base.

Mr. Soleri has not yet worked out such practical features as intramural transportation. Right now he is challenging us to realize that the form of cities as we have known them could--and probably should--be changed. His concept may not win kudos in Detroit. But maybe it should. Because using air space instead of land space for urban living, we would have much more land space for recreational activities. And as population increases and work needs grow shorter, outdoor areas for leisure-time travel will be a premium.

A somewhat less visionary idea substitutes communication for transportation. Instead of commuting, you sit in the den in your suburban home and hold a morning staff meeting via closed circuit television or picture phone. Your mail comes in via an electronic remote reproducing terminal. Your time-sharing computer console helps with the brain work. And when you need data from a library or other source, the computer retrieves it and the material appears on your personal television screen. Here again, personal transportation for many city dwellers would be primarily for pleasure.

But even if computers cut down on commuters we will still need trucks, trains, barges, aircraft, ships and pipelines to get the computers manufactured--and to keep those non-commuters housed, fed, clothed, educated and entertained.

Economists forecast that in 30 years we will work only 7 hours a day, 4 days a week. We'll have 39 work weeks and 13 weeks of vacation. That sounds either great or frightening, depending upon how well you like to work. Certainly it points to a crunch in leisure time travel.

On that score, listen to what Dr. Thomas O. Paine, Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has to say about orbital travel:

"A frequently asked question relates to the future of commercial space flights. Will men be able to buy tickets to fly into orbit? This will surely come to pass sometime. We can foresee reasonable prices (several thousand dollars) with a reusable rocket plane shuttle able to fly to orbit and back. Indeed, it should be possible for passengers to fly back and forth to the moon by the end of the century, if that becomes an attractive place to visit."

Passenger orbital flights from New York to Australia, New Delhi, Capetown, or the moon may be possible. But with all the other urgent demands upon the federal treasury, they probably won't be commercially available quite that soon.

Yet in the Department of Transportation we must consider all known possibilities in our planning. After all, as recently as 1959 a reputable dictionary was defining "spaceship" as "an imaginary aircraft of the future for interplanetary travel outside the earth's atmosphere."

Some exciting and more immediate developments in transportation lie this side of outer space. Recently our Department has let or advertised several contracts to speed development of tracked air-cushion vehicles (TACVs). One is for design of an experimental vehicle that will ride on a cushion of air at speeds up to 300 miles an hour. The 61-foot TACV will skim along about one inch above the bottom of a U-shaped guideway. Powered by a linear induction motor (LIM) it will be practically noiseless and will not pollute the air. We hope to be testing this vehicle at our Colorado proving ground by 1974.

Meanwhile we've made grants to the Los Angeles Department of Airports which we expect will lead to the nation's first passenger-carrying TACV system. Prototypes will be less sophisticated than the one mentioned above. To get the 16.3 mile line operating by late 1972, we've lowered the speed requirement to "up to 150 miles per hour." Vehicles must seat at least 60 persons. Guideways will rise 20 to 60 feet above the San Diego Freeway right of way, assuring safety for TACV riders and the freeway motorists below.

The TACV/LIM promises to give us the quiet, comfortable, high-speed transportation we've been seeking for airport access and intercity travel in urban corridors.

Another possibility is vehicles in tubes that can travel safely at speeds up to 400-500 m.p.h. And conventional jetliners will be supplemented on the shorter runs by VTOL and STOL aircraft that require little or no runway.

Within the cities we'll see various kinds of people movers--some automated, some people driven, some dual mode so that the driver can hook onto an automated system in congested areas and drive away under his own power in the suburbs.

To meet tomorrow's demand for transportation we will either either move more people and goods faster and more efficiently over (or under) today's rights of way or devote more of our precious land space to new facilities.

The people of the cities must decide what kinds of systems they will support. And what kind of city they will be hitched to.

Ann Landers
Reader Declares Red Marking Pen
Cheaper than Second Copy of Paper

Dear Ann Landers: I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your answer to the father who signed himself "Second Class Citizen." It seems by the time he sat down to read the newspaper it was ripped apart. His wife had torn out a recipe, his daughter clipped your column, his mother-in-law went for the horoscope, etc. You told him to solve the problem by picking up a paper or the way home just for himself.

You call this advice? In our family if you are old enough to read a newspaper you are old enough to leave it in good condition for the next person. Common courtesy and respect for others should be learned early. A red ink underlining pen for marking articles to be torn out later is cheaper than a second newspaper -- and less trouble, too. Anyone in our family who wants to tear out an item can wait till the next day.

Where were YOU, Ann Landers, when that column appeared? -- Disappointed. Dear Disappointed: I was in Athens but I wrote the advice before I left. Fifty million readers can't be wrong -- and that's roughly the number that complained about my answer. I plead temporary insanity.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell women who go to bargain sales not to say to a person who is looking at a sale item, "If you don't want that I would like to buy it."

This does one of two things -- both of them bad. It makes the woman who is considering the item more eager to buy it than she would feel guilty if she does buy it.

Yesterday I paid $33 for a dress. I didn't need and would not have purchased it if a very pushy woman had not stood at my elbow making such remarks as, "That's exactly what I've been looking for. Hurry up and make up your mind."

I am stuck with this "bargain" and can't return it because it was on sale. I could wring that woman's neck for what she did to me. Please print. -- Minus $33.

Dear Minus: She didn't do anything to you. You did it to yourself. Consider it a $33 lesson and wear the dress to the next bargain sale as a reminder.

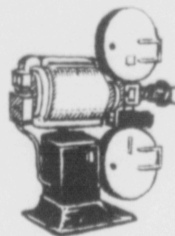

Dear Ann Landers: We are two teenagers who need you to speak up for us. Grandpa is 88 years old. We love him very much but his mind wanders and he's like not all there. The doctor said Grandpa would be better off in the old folks home than at our house because Mom can't give him the kind of care he needs. So three weeks ago Mom and Dad took him to a nice place where the people are very friendly.

Mom makes my brother and me (we are 15 and 16) go with her to visit Grandpa every evening after supper. We wouldn't mind a couple nights a week, Ann, but this every-night routine is like spacing us out. It's boring to sit in a room and not be able to carry on a conversation. Grandpa doesn't even know who we are. Mom reconsider and stop dragging you kids along on what she considers her duty visits. What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage-- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you like westerns and like John Wayne, see CHISUM at the Malco Twin. If you like westerns and don't like John Wayne, see CHISUM anyway. He is in about one-third of the movie, and is backed by a well-known group of standards and a few western "new comers." While I was prepared to be bored out of my chairs, I actually enjoyed the scenery and most of the acting. Not disappointing unless you expect a lilly-white fantasy... opposite AIRPORT, beginning this third, exciting week. If you haven't seen AIRPORT and like movies at all, catch this one. All 'new comers' are fulfilled in AIRPORT.

Comments Hessling Family Gathers

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Being a press secretary at the White House is "an exercise in masochism," says Constance Stuart, who works for the President's wife, Pat Nixon.

You know you're doing a good job, she laughed, "when both the first family and the press corps are mad at you."

Making her speaking debut in Washington, Mrs. Stuart told a gathering of the Women's National Press Club Wednesday night that the questions she's asked most frequently are: "Is Julie Eisenhower pregnant?" and "Is Tricia Nixon engaged?"

"Well," she said, "there's no baby expected, and no wedding in sight."

After 10 months on the $30,000 White House job, 32-year-old red-haired Mrs. Stuart says she's gained respect and esprit for the press corps.

The Nixon family believes criticism is "the name of the game in a democracy" and they can take it, she said.

Her boss, Mrs. Nixon, has a great depth of feeling for people, Mrs. Stuart reported, but is reserved about talking about herself.

Fashion
NEW YORK--(NEA)--The battle of the sexes goes on--in fashion, that is.

First gals started wearing slacks and shirts. Their contributions to this type of apparel were more than the men could offer (sometimes too much offer), but no one could argue that, when the ladies started to wear the pants in the family, they were infringing on masculine territory.

Men countered by wearing their hair long.

And now the latest move on the distaff side brings even the luggage industry into the act.

While women aren't exactly throwing away their purses, more than one million strong they are carrying attache cases.

"At first, we thought they were just running some errands for their husbands," said a spokesman for a major luggage firm. "But further investigation showed they were using the attachees for themselves."

With that fact in mind, the company decided that attache cases, especially designed for women, would be a good item and introduced the Ladies' Career Case.

This attractive attache combines a businesslike construction with bright exterior solid colors and lively floral-printed linings. Solid colors were chosen for the outside to allow easy coordination with a woman's every-day wardrobe for town, office or shopping.

Connie Shuford To National Office in BRT Auxiliary

CHAFFEE -- Mrs. W. L. "Connie" Shuford has returned from Columbus, Ohio, where she attended the First International Convention of the Ladies Auxiliary of the United Transportation Union. The Auxiliary was organized as "Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen", at Fort Gratiot, Michigan, January 23, 1889. The name was changed to Ladies Auxiliary to United Transportation Union by granting of charter March 10, 1970. It was adopted at the convention held July 21 through 28 in effect on and after January 1, 1971.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (the Auxiliary's parent organization) ceased to exist as of January 1, 1969. The unification of those in the railroad industry employed as conductors, brakemen, engineers and yardmen created a new labor union, Mrs. Shuford said. The new organization was named the "United Transportation Union," as symbolic of the desires of these operating men to join together to more effectively represent transportation employees.

Mrs. Shuford, who has served as National Legislative Representative of the Auxiliary since January 1, 1963, was elected National Legislative Director of the United States, for a four year term. ## Bench Unloads 40th Home Run

Bosman One Hits Skidding Twins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's been nine years since baseball made "asterisk" a household word — but the little character may once again star in the record books the next time Cincinnati's Johnny Bench unloads a homer.

The biggest cog in the Big Red Machine smacked a two-run shot in the fourth inning Thursday night and Lee May and Tony Perez added solo blasts as Cincinnati overwhelmed the New York Mets 6-1 to give Jim Merritt his 17th victory of the year.

It was back in 1961 when Roger Maris hit 61 homers in 162 games that baseball decreed the record should carry the little star to show it was separate but equal to Babe Ruth's 60 roundtrippers in 154 games.

Now along comes Bench with 40 home runs, one shy of Roy Campanella's 1953 record for most

Legion Playoffs At Springfield, St. Ann

The double elimination tournaments will end Sunday. The winners will advance to the best-of-three finals Aug. 22-23 for the state championship.

The state champion will move on to a regional tourney at Aberdeen, S.D.

reserve clause.

In an interview, Campbell

said: "I feel greatly relieved about the improved stability that all professional sport now finds itself in."

"The decision will tend to stabilize all professional sport for the time being, since a decision against the clause would have left all sport in a chaotic position."

Judge Irving Ben Cooper rejected a suit in New York Tuesday filed by Flood asking for an injunction and for damages of $1.4 million after he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Judge Cooper upheld the legality of the controversial reserve clause and suggested any change should be made through player-owner negotiations.

Campbell said he felt negotiation was not the answer "but rather I feel it essential that legislation be passed on the matter to guarantee confidence and assurance for both the players and management."

"For the time being this court ruling will put an end to these flamboyant and flippant threats of anti-trust action," he added.

homers in a season by a catcher.

The problem is that Bench isn't exclusively a catcher. He has hit 33 of them in games in which he worked as the receiver, four when he was a left fielder and one each as a center fielder, right fielder and first baseman.

Officials say only the 33 are being counted in his quest for Campy's record. What the record book will look like when Bench finishes the season is best left to statisticians and computers. Bench apparently isn't giving it much thought.

"Sure I'm thinking about homers," he said after the game, "but the Campanella record is the last thing on my mind."

"I started the season going now, I'd like to hit 50. But I'm also looking for hits that can help the ball club," Bench said.

In Thursday night's other National League action, Houston surprised Philadelphia 4-3, San Diego outlasted St. Louis 9-7, Atlanta topped Montreal 4-1, and, in an afternoon contest, the Chicago Cubs beat San Francisco 6-3.

In the American League, Washington's Dick Bosman one-hit Minnesota 1-0, Milwaukee edged Detroit 3-2, Kansas City clobbered Boston 11-3, the New York Yankees nipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3, California edged Baltimore 3-2 and Cleveland topped Oakland 4-3.

Jesus Alou rapped a two-run single that capped a three-run eighth inning in Houston's victory over the Phils.

reserve clause.

In an interview, Campbell

said: "I feel greatly relieved about the improved stability that all professional sport now finds itself in."

"The decision will tend to stabilize all professional sport for the time being, since a decision against the clause would have left all sport in a chaotic position."

Judge Irving Ben Cooper rejected a suit in New York Tuesday filed by Flood asking for an injunction and for damages of $1.4 million after he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Judge Cooper upheld the legality of the controversial reserve clause and suggested any change should be made through player-owner negotiations.

Campbell said he felt negotiation was not the answer "but rather I feel it essential that legislation be passed on the matter to guarantee confidence and assurance for both the players and management."

"For the time being this court ruling will put an end to these flamboyant and flippant threats of anti-trust action," he added.

Lombardi Praided By Polic

Political Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, with a phone call and Congress with a special tribute, took time out this week to honor Washington Redskins Coach Vince Lombardi, hospitalized since a second major operation July 27.

The President called Lombardi at his room in Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday night and wished him well, the Washington Post said in today's editions. The call lasted several minutes and the President thanked Lombardi for what he had done for the country, particularly young people.

"You are very kind. What you have said is very flattering," Lombardi replied.

Meanwhile, there were several speeches in Congress praising the former Green Bay Packer coach.

Leaders of both parties in the House paid homage to Lombardi, who has been replaced for the time being by assistant Bill Austin.

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst agreed, adding, "If they had pitching they'd be tough. They have some good ball players, and they don't make mistakes so much any more."

For the Padres, who totaled 44 hits in the free-swinging series to the Cardinals' 45, Ollie Brown and substitute shortstop Jose Arcia provided power outlasting a tardy Cardinal rally.

Arcia, hitting only .224 and boasting only four RBI in 125 at-bats entering Thursday night's game, drove home three runs with a double and three singles.

The powerful Brown's two-run homer in the third off loser Reggie Cleveland, 0-1, and sacrifice fly in the seventh helped the Padres mount a 9-4 lead that proved insurmountable.

Before a two-run burst by the visitors in the sixth, back-to-back homers by the Cardinals' Richie Allen No. 33 and Joe Torre reduced a 6-1 Padre lead to 6-4 at inning earlier.

"I thought in the eighth we were going to win it," said Schoendienst, whose team drove winning pitcher Clay Kirby,

Clay In Line For Oct. 26 Fight

ATLANTA (AP) — "We have a commitment to Promoters say only the lack of fight Bob Foster," Durham said. "We will not be fought until we fulfill our obligation to Foster."

As a formality—stands between a heavyweight championship fight between Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay in Atlanta Oct. 26.

The proposed bout has been rejected by a number of cities because Clay, stripped of his heavyweight crown when he refused induction into the Army, has been unable to secure Johnson arranged the fight. He said at the news conference that Athletic Commission has issued a city him a license.

And Clay said at a news in his possession.

"We have done what the law requires us to do," said Johnson. "We feel we are now in the running. There is no state law that Clay has a license and is ready to fight caught the Frazier camp by surprise."

"It's a lie," said Yank Durham in Stateline, Nev., where Frazier is appearing with his rock music group. Durham, who manages the fighter, said "there is no truth to it at all."

He said he could not believe that Clay had a license, but that if he does, Frazier will fight him.

"But he doesn't and that is all there is to that," he said.

However, Durham left the door open for a possible bout with Clay next year.

The millions of fans who spend autumn Sundays watching their favorite pro football teams clash get a chance tonight for their own version of preseason training.

They can get in shape for the regular season by watching the Kansas City Chiefs, 1970 Super Bowl champs, take on the Baltimore Colts in a nationally televised preseason game. It's on NBC-TV and the kickoff is 8:30 p.m., EDT.

There was gloom, meanwhile, today in the camp of the Cincinnati Bengals, youngest of the 26 National Football League teams. Star quarterback Greg Cook is scheduled for surgery early next week and probably will be out of action for the entire campaign.

one of two tonight as the second weekend of exhibitions get under way. The Detroit Lions are at Buffalo in the other.

There are nine scheduled Saturday night, one Sunday and one Monday night.

Bengal head coach and general manager Paul Brown disclosed the likely loss of Cook, offensive Rookie of the Year in 1969 for his first season in the American Football League.

"After examination, Greg decided he should undergo surgery," Brown said. The exploratory surgery on his right shoulder will be performed Monday or Tuesday at the Cleveland Clinic.

Doctors believe a sheath of muscle may have broken loose in Cook's arm, Brown said. The quarterback has complained of constant pain and has not been able to throw a football. He hurt the arm during a pickup basketball game last winter.

"Doctors feel he will be lost for the season," Brown said.

Both Baltimore and Kansas City are plagued with injuries. The Chiefs will play without linebacker Bobby Bell, sidelined with a spinal injury, and cornerback Jim Marsalis, who scored last week with an intercepted pass, is doubtful.

Johnny Unitas has a dislocated finger but the veteran quarterback is scheduled to start for Baltimore, which may not have the services of offensive tackle Sam Hall and safety Jerry Logan.

The spotlight will be on a pair of Heisman Trophy winners in the contest at Buffalo, O.J. Simpson, the 1968 winner, is one of the Bills' running backs, while Steve Owens, who got the award last fall, is a Detroit Lions rookie.

The New Orleans Saints said Friday they planned to retire No. 81, the jersey worn by big Doug Atkins, one of the NFL's all-time outstanding defensive ends. Atkins retired at the end of last season after 17 years, which tied the NFL longevity record.

This summer each of the four 12-day sessions (June 14-25, June 28-July 9, July 12-23 and July 26-Aug 6) was filled to capacity. The Girl Scouts scouting experience. attending these sessions are divided into 5 units. Each supervised instruction in campers prepare some of their own meals while perfecting outdoor cooking skills, but most meals are prepared in the modern, well-equipped camp kitchen. The girls eat in a spacious dining hall. Two cooks, Mrs. Dorothy Little and Mrs. Kitty Hawkins of Doniphan, prepare meals with that "home-cooked" touch.

The modern kitchen was completed. In 1968 the dining hall was modernized and a sailboat purchased, and in 1969 one modern shower house was built. In 1970 another modern shower will be added.

is this the moment for your 2nd Début?

It is, if you see other women whispering behind your back and you just know they're discussing your age. It is, if you are looking even a tiny bit older than your husband. It is, if your husband no longer brings you flowers as frequently as he used to. Then, this IS the moment for you to discover the wonders that 2nd Début is capable of performing on skin of most any age past 30.

CEF is a principal active ingredient of 2nd Début. CEF is the synthetic counterpart of a natural material present in normal human skin. In nature, until age 30 or thereabouts, this CEF is present in sufficient strength to keep the skin's water-moisture level up, to prevent age lines from appearing prematurely. CEF, as employed in 2nd Début is made available in two specially prepared strengths for twice daily topical application to facial skin of age 30 or older. 2nd Début (with CEF 600) contains enough concentration of CEF for the woman whose age is hovering around 40. Its price is $3 for 4 ounces. 2nd Début with CEF 1200, double potency, is especially prepared for the skin of age 50, or older. However 2nd Début (with CEF 1200) is used with greater success and satisfaction by many younger grand dames who enjoy indulging their personal impatience, or when their time is of the essence. The price is $5 for 4 ounces. Regardless of circumstances, however, when the objective is a smoother, less linefull, fresher, more youthful-appearing facial skin, 2nd Début is now a favorite most everywhere.

Other 2nd Début preparations

2nd Début Liquid Cleanser
For the clearest skin ever. 2 ozs. $3.

Communicable disease cases which are reported give a poor picture of the incidence. Very few, of the actual cases which occur, are ever reported by attending physicians. Often, no physician even sees the patients.

Many of the office visits were by persons who needed an official stamp on their immunization records for foreign travel. This stamp was available only at Health Departments.

There were fewer immunizations given than in 1968. There may be several reasons for this. The law requiring compulsory protection against smallpox, diphtheria and poliomyelitis for school attendance has been in effect for several years; so we may have caught up with the back-log of needed shots. The recommended time between booster "shots" was increased from 2 to 8 years. A new study of the time protection from a booster dose revealed that children have been given entirely too frequently "shots." This announcement, of course, was cause for great glee among the youngsters. Then, some parents, who could not afford to pay for their children's immunizations, received orange Medicaid cards, and could go to the offices of their private physicians for the services.

In Scott County, the children at the Day Care Center, and those in Headstart Schools, received many of their immunizations from the Health Department.

Regular immunization clinics were held each Monday afternoon at the Health Center at Benton from one to three, and at Sikeston each 4th Thursday from 10 A.M. to 12 noon.

Venereal disease could be eliminated but not as easily now as it might have been a few years ago. Gonorrhea, which at one time, could be cured by one small dose of penicillin, has become resistant to this drug. If penicillin will cure it at all now, it takes a huge dose. Other drugs which have also been effective in small doses, now require increasingly larger amounts for a cure. Very few of the cases of gonorrhea treated in the offices of private physicians are ever reported; therefore, female contacts are often never found and brought to treatment. This accounts for the increasing incidence of the disease, especially in teenagers.

Star Witness Says Jail Release Changes Little

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Everybody says I'm a free woman," Linda Kasabian said with a sigh, "but I don't feel any different."

Then the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial was whisked out a back door of the Hall of Justice Thursday under heavy guard to spend her first night out of jail in eight months.

Mrs. Kasabian's lawyers said she was driven to an undisclosed hotel, anticipating "a good dinner and probably watching television."

She was released after murder-conspiracy charges against her were dropped Thursday. The petite, pigtailed witness was granted immunity from prosecution for telling her story on the stand.

During 14 days as a witness, she has testified that some members of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style "family" killed the blonde actress and six others during two murder missions last August. She said she went on the missions but stayed outside as a lookout, then fled in terror.

Manson and three women followers, Susan Atkins, 21, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 20, are on trial for murder-conspiracy.

Mrs. Kasabian will come to court daily until she completes her testimony, Ronald Hughes, the last of four defense lawyers, completed his cross-examination, and chief prosecutor Aaron Stovitz began questions in redirect examination.

Stovitz said he would finish redirect by tonight, but the four defense attorneys then begin recross-examination, which is expected to take several days.

A prosecutor said that she will remain under guard as long as she's a witness, but once she leaves California the matter will be out of their hands.

Her attorney said she hopes to head east. Her mother in Milford has been caring for her children, Tanya, 2, and Angel, 5 months.

The attorney, Ronald Goldman, was asked if, in view of her experiences, she could ever really feel free.

"The fact that she has told the truth," he said, "that she gave herself up, and that she has done everything she could for the cause of truth and justice, will give her solace and a sense of freedom."

Hughes, trying his first case, concluded his cross-examination with questions on drug use and life in the Manson "family."

He asked if Mrs. Kasabian gave her baby daughter drugs. "No," she replied. "I believe she was stoned naturally. I believe that all children are."

Was she "controlled by Mr. Manson through vibrations?" "Yes, possibly."

Did he put out "a lot of vibes?" "Sure. He's doing it right now."

The answer brought a broad grin from Manson.

Earlier, the diminutive bearded Manson, 36, padded barefoot into the courtroom for a hearing with the jury absent. He complained of "unjust and barbaric treatment" in jail and asked for a "cease and desist."

Dear Sir:

This may seem an odd request but I hope it is possible to have it done. I'm trying to contact a Corp. William Stevens who I knew while in the Army at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, Fort Sheridan, Illinois and then he went on to Iceland. He stopped writing and I don't know what happened to him. I know it has been many years but I am anxious to know if he came thru W. W. II or not and if I could contact someone, friends or relatives who might know his present address and would contact me. I've been sick a lot lately and naturally think of old friends and would like to see some if I could, or hear from them. I don't know exactly what kind of item you would put in your paper for me but I'll leave it more or less to you. Whether in personal column or someone prominent so friends or relatives would be sure to see it easily. I will give you an example of what I want and the information that might be necessary. I came from Springfield, Mo. and wish I still lived there. In case I ever get back I might be able to see Bill Stevens.

"I wish to contact any friend or relative who knows anything about the whereabouts of a Corp. William Stevens ASN 18003387. I lost contact of him when he went to Iceland and I would like very much to get in touch with him. I hope and pray he made it through the War O.K. He used to live in Halden, Okla., but I couldn't reach him there. He was at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Fort Sheridan, Illinois and then to N.Y. and Iceland. His parents moved to some part of Illinois but I think later moved back to Okla. I don't know his mothers name but his stepfathers name was Bert (last name unknown). Bill also mentioned having a sister, aunt, grandmother and some cousins in Sikeston so I thought maybe even after all these years someone would still be there who knows about him and contact me. He was a very nice person and we were good friends and still are I hope. If anyone sees this and contacts me it will be greatly appreciated. Since I have moved since he last saw me I am so I thought this might help me and let him know my address.

The suit, filed in November 1966, alleged that GM began a campaign to intimidate Nader after he wrote his book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," which was critical of automobile safety standards.

Nader complained in the suit that GM hired a private investigator, Vincent Gillen, whose detectives inquired into his private life.

The book prompted a safety crusade and a Senate hearing during which James M. Roche, then president of the giant automaker, publicly apologized for his harassment.

Nader sued for damages—$26 million was the figure reported at the time although his lawyers said Thursday the total was $12 million.

Th. $425,000 that GM paid Thursday was for compensatory damages and the automaker said claims for punitive damages were withdrawn as part of the settlement.

GM said it denies any wrongdoing or legal liability in connection with the claim and that "the settlement in no respect constitutes an admission of any of the claims asserted by Nader."

"Settlement of the lawsuit at this time was considered desirable" to save the time and expense of further litigation, GM said.

Nader said in a statement that GM could have delayed the case further and therefore "it was deemed wiser to settle the case and devote the proceeds, after deduction of legal fees and expenses, to the cause of consumer protection and corporate responsibility, especially in the latter area—General Motors' responsibility."

Sheriff's officers said Patton, a former Marine, was charged with receiving stolen property, had been missing since his car was found parked at a cafe July 31. His body was found Tuesday in a field between the city and the Mississippi River.

Court Shootout Guns Traced to Red Instructor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two of three guns smuggled into a courtroom and used in last Friday's shootout that killed a judge and three others were purchased in 1968 and 1969 by Angela Davis, a Communist university instructor, the San Francisco Examiner says.

Miss Davis, who says her political views led to her discharge as a philosophy teacher at the University of California at Los Angeles, was not available for comment on the newspaper's copyright story published Tuesday.

Ed Montgomery, a Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, said in his story that Jonathan Jackson, 17, who carried the guns into the San Rafael courtroom, had served recently as a bodyguard for Miss Davis, 26.

Jackson and two of three convicts to whom he gave arms in the escape attempt were killed as they tried to drive away in a van.

Inside the van, Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, one of five hostages, was shot to death. An automatic carbine and a Browning .380 caliber automatic pistol found inside the van were traced by serial numbers. The Examiner said the name of Angela Davis was recorded for purchase of the pistol Jan. 12, 1968, at the Brass Rail in Los Angeles, and for the purchase of the carbine April 7, 1969, at Western Surplus in Los Angeles.

At the time the guns were purchased Miss Davis was teaching at the University of California in San Diego.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to talk with newsmen about the investigation of the shootout.

Election Law Changes Pose Difficult Task

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — It won't be easy for Missouri to comply with the new federal law allowing 18-year-olds to vote and eliminating residency requirements for those who wish to vote for president and vice-president.

Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick told the Election Law Study Commission Tuesday he will prepare an outline as soon as possible to give election officials an idea of what they do quickly when the federal law becomes effective Jan. 1.

He said the law "will present mechanical problems which our office wishes to help county clerks and boards of election commissioners solve."

Constitutionality of the law now is being tested in the courts. Opponents insist that the only way to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 is to amend the Constitution. But sponsors said congressional action is enough and young people would not wait for a constitutional change.

Kirkpatrick also recommended changes in the laws providing for initiative and referendum petitions. In the past year several campaigns have produced petitions with signatures from several congressional districts on a single sheet. Yet Kirkpatrick's staff must separate them to see if enough signatures have been obtained in at least seven of the 10 districts.

State Rep. George W. Parker, R-Columbia, urged the commission to make some changes in the regulation of parties, including permission for 19-year-olds to participate in party operations and to eliminate proxy voting.

Schumacher Will Study In Rome

DALLAS — Mark Schumacher, a University of Dallas student from Sikeston, Mo., will be among the first group of students to attend UD classes in Rome this fall.

Schumacher and other sophomores will arrive in Rome Aug. 23 to inaugurate an innovative new Rome studies program under which all the university's second-year students will spend a semester studying and living in permanent facilities provided by the university.

Schumacher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Schumacher Jr. of 530 Vernon. The Rome studies program offers every student a semester abroad, regardless of his major field of study. The courses they take in Rome will be the same ones they would take on the Dallas campus, taught by UD teachers who already have arrived there.

The Rome campus was made available by the School Sisters of Notre Dame whose mother general, Mother Georgianne Segner had been on the UD campus.

As a part of the program during each semester the University will escort the students on a 10-day visit to centers of culture and historical significance in Greece.

Subsidy Checks on Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says its aim for getting payment checks in farmers' hands for participating in 1970 crop programs by mid-August is about on target.

A spokesman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said $3.16 billion in payments had been distributed by Aug. 7 and that most of the remaining payments—a total of more than $3.2 billion—would be made soon.

The checks represent payments for taking part in this year's key government programs for cotton, feed grains and wheat. Feed grains, including corn, sorghums and barley, are expected to account for more than $1 billion, with cotton and wheat each totaling less.

Payments are determined on the basis of several factors but are made only to farmers who voluntarily sign up in the programs and agree to keep plantings within allotted acreages.

In return, the government agrees to guarantee producers a basic price support rate or floor price and in addition makes direct or supplemental payments on part of their normal crop production. Also, in the case of feed grains and wheat, farmers also can collect diversion payments for land idled beyond minimum requirements. There are no mandatory diversion requirements for cotton this year.

However, all programs are keyed to acreage reduction from historical planting patterns. In this sense, farmers participating in the programs become eligible for payments by agreeing to plant less of the specific crops than they otherwise might.

The 1970 payments being made now are the last under existing programs provided in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1966. This law expires at the end of this year. Congress is now expected to complete action on a new program.

The new programs almost certainly will include a limitation on payments—excluding price support loans—for the next three years. The House passed the omnibus farm bill on Aug. 5, including an Agriculture Committee amendment calling for a $56,000 per crop ceiling on payments any individual producer can collect in one year.

In the wake of Hurricane Celia's smash through Texas, the Red Cross has set a national goal of $6 million to help shelter and feed persons made homeless along the Gulf Coast. The relief organization is operating 41 shelters in the disaster area. Ten Army field kitchens and eight Red Cross mobile feeding units have been sent to Corpus Christi, hardest hit by the storm's fury. An estimated 65,000 families suffered losses and unofficial estimates of damage in the Corpus Christi area rose to $375 million. Other Texas towns hit by Celia included Aransas Pass, above, where shrimp boats were grounded, and Rockport, right, where homes were leveled. President Nixon has authorized federal funds to aid in the disaster relief.

Under Twenty

Interview

MIGUEL RIOS
By Kurt Lassen
Most foreign entertainers are somewhat reluctant to be enthusiastic about the United States for fear the word will get back to their home country. Not so in the case of Miguel Rios, whose "Song of Joe" is riding high on the charts. The Spanish singer raved about his first visit to these shores.

"I love it here. I've only been here a few days, but before my life is over I want to come and live here for a few years. Everybody seems so free, so friendly. I have to go back to Spain in a few days and I'm sorry," Miguel told us.

Enthusiasm is typical of Miguel, undisguised enthusiasm. We met at a small party in honor of his receiving a gold disc for "Song of Joe," a pop version of Beethoven's famous choral, "Ode To Joy." He showed the gold disc proudly to friends and strangers alike.

"It seems almost impossible, like a dream to me," he said. "One of Herb Alpert's talent scouts heard me in Spain. The next thing I knew I was cutting the single, which had already been a big hit in Europe. I did it in English and people liked it."

What naturally follows in the life of a singer is an album. In Miguel's case it bears the title of his hit single and Miguel, who speaks fine English, sings more than half of the numbers in English.

"Before this," Miguel said, "I always sang with a small group or a guitar. For the single and the album I was backed up by a huge orchestra directed by Walter de Los Rios, who is well known for his 'South American Suite.'"

Miguel is handsome in the dark, Spanish tradition. His brown eyes sparkle, he smiles easily. He's just turned 26, lives in Madrid and was born in Granada. "I began singing when I was 17 and I've never really wanted to do anything else."

On his limited visit to America he hadn't had much chance to see the sights. "I did get to see the film 'Woodstock,'" he told us, "I don't think anything like that could ever happen in Spain or even in Europe. You're so much more free here."

"The record 'Song,' as Miguel calls it, 'like Beethoven's Ode, deals with peace and attempts to capture all the feelings of people wanting to live for life's sake, to enjoy everything of beauty.'"

In his native Spain Miguel is the pop star of the young. He has appeared on Spanish television and his singles not only do very well in Spain, but have a tremendous impact throughout most of Latin America.

"But," Miguel said, "unless you make it in the United States it really isn't the same. I've got to come back soon, travel all over the country and sing for people and meet them."

Miguel doesn't really need the big backing of a 60-piece band and 32 voices. He plays the organ, bass, drum and, of course, the guitar. But mostly he loves to let his rich voice do his entertaining for him.

His dress is as colorful as his singing. When we talked he wore checked trousers, a white, tasseled Spanish shirt and a long, flowing green paisley scarf. A dashing picture which had the eyes of the girls following him as he moved around the room to talk to people and show his prized gold disc.

No more appropriate title for a song could be found for Miguel than "A Song of Joe." In his new-found American success he was in every respect a picture of joy.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

God helps us in all our troubles, so that we are able to help those who have all kinds of troubles, using the same help that we ourselves have received from God. (II Corinthians 1:4, TEV).

PRAYER: Our Father, please help us to look for opportunities to do a kindness for someone, especially to the lonely. Help us to make lonely folks feel less alone. In the spirit of the Master. Amen.

If You Were the Judge

Securities Not Part of House's Contents

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

When Elmer died, he left a big old house that was sold to Calvin, who promptly proceeded to rehabilitate it to a more respectable condition. While doing so, he found to his great joy and surprise a considerable amount of valuable securities that had been tucked away in old books, bureaus and mattresses. As a result, the house turned out to be a bigger bargain than he had thought.

Elmer's daughter, however, turned out to be no bargain at all. When she learned what Calvin had panned out of the house, she claimed the securities as part of her father's estate.

"Malarky!" was Calvin's answer. "I not only bought the house, but the deed gave me its entire contents as well. They're mine."

"Malarky to you, sir," was the daughter's answer. "You were sold a house and its contents, but not a fortune in securities. While you may be plucky, you weren't that lucky."

Whereupon Elmer's daughter sought to recover the securities in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit plucky Calvin to keep his find?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a house and its contents are sold, "contents" generally refers to such furnishings and household goods as are normally found in a home and which are frequently sold as part of the property. Items of personal property do not pass to the purchaser in the absence of an intent to that effect. And in this case, concluded the judge, there was no intent that Calvin was to acquire ownership of valuable securities.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Aug. 14, the 235th day of 1970. There are 129 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced Japan's unconditional surrender. It was the end of World War II.

On this date: In 1784, the first Russian Colony in Alaska was founded on Kodiak Island.

In 1848, the Oregon Territory was organized.

In 1900, the Boxer Rebellion in China ended as U.S. Marines helped capture Peking.

In 1941, during World War II, it was announced that President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill had met at sea and signed the Atlantic Charter.

In 1947, the United States cancelled about $1 billion in debts owed by Italy.

In 1964, a number of Negro grade-school children signed up for classes in formerly all-white schools in Biloxi, Miss. They were the first of their race to break public school segregation in the state.

Ten years ago: Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy met Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y., and pledged to carry on social programs begun by the late President Roosevelt.

Five years ago: Police and National Guardsmen were shooting it out with snipers during rioting in Negro sections of Los Angeles.

One year ago: British troops were sent to Londonderry in Northern Ireland to help police put down rioting between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

FTC Critic

Be Next Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philadelphia lawyer Miles W. Kirkpatrick, who once headed a committee that recommended reform of abolition of the Federal Trade Commission, has been selected by President Nixon to head the agency.

Nixon announced Tuesday his nomination of the 52-year-old Kirkpatrick to the unexpired seven-year term of resigned Chairman Caspar W. Weinberger, who joins the Office of Management and Budget.

Nixon said Kirkpatrick would serve as chairman of the FTC, if he wins Senate confirmation, for the term ending in September, 1976.

Kirkpatrick headed a late 1969 study of the FTC, at Nixon's request, by a panel of the American Bar Association.

His report concluded that the consumer protection agency was ineffective, preoccupied with trivia and riddled with dissension.

And the 119-page document commented that if major changes did not occur, "there will be no substantial purpose to be served by the FTC's continued existence," and other agencies should take up the slack.

Since then, there have been some revisions. Nixon replaced longtime Chairman Paul Rand Dixon with Weinberger in November. And last month the agency began operating under a reorganization plan.

But criticism hasn't stopped. FTC Commissioner Philip Elman said Tuesday the agency should be abolished, with its functions split between a single administrator and a trade court.

Kirkpatrick has charged sluggishness and failure to deal strictly enough with deceptive practices by industry. His report noted some proceedings had dragged on for 10 years or more.

In Calling Shots

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—Rep. R.J. (Bus) King, R-Clayton, minority leader in the Missouri House, charged Wednesday that the Democratic Party "is more interested in who will call the shots than it is in solving the problems of our state."

King said the Republicans, if they can gain control, should start by cleaning out the Department of Revenue.

"It is disgusting," he said in a speech prepared for a dinner meeting of Saline County Republicans, "when we find that the Department of Revenue has spent $32,000 for rental on computer equipment when that equipment was never taken out of its crate and never used."

"I find it disgusting when employees of that department can draw full time salaries and work only a few days each month."

He said the department should be changed from political patronage employment to the merit system and the local fee license offices, parceled out to political friends, should be scrapped.

Scout Ranch

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Some 3,000 to 4,000 youngsters at the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch are in "no danger whatsoever" of incurring the same form of pneumonia that caused the death of 12-year-old James Morris last week.

Morris, of Jackson, Mich., was at the camp with his parents, who were taking a leaders' training course.

Dr. Bruce Storrs, director of the Health and Social Services, said Monday a series of tests showed, "there was nothing contagious."

Health officials quarantined the camp for 24 hours after an autopsy disclosed indications of pneumonic plague, a highly contagious disease.

Storrs said tests completed Monday identified the cause of death as "fulminating streptococcus pneumonia." The doctor said: "this is not a communicable disease."

Hearnes Not Among Demo Doubters

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Govs. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri and Robert Docking of Kansas may be classed in a vanishing breed by some, but they take immediate issue with those who say the Democratic party won't rise again in 1972.

One of their Democratic colleagues, Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina, has called for a political "talent hunt" to find an attractive candidate to challenge President Nixon for the White House in 1972.

Hearnes and Docking, two of only 18 Democrat governors, don't believe it's all that big a problem with the Democrats, although neither professes any presidential ambitions of his own.

"I, my personal opinion," Hearnes said, "I think the Democrats have a number of very very attractive candidates. But I don't think this should prevent them from conducting a search for the most attractive candidate possible."

"Sen (Edmund) Muskie (of Maine) is a very, attractive looking candidate. I'd say he's the lead horse right now."

Docking would play no name game in his assessment of the 72 presidential derby. But he did say:

"There are very many capable people in both political parties. To say there are no Democratic candidates, I just don't think is true at all. There are a number of candidates attractive to both parties, and to make any assessment at this time is foolish in my opinion. Things can change so dramatically in a short time."

While Hearnes and Docking profess no political ambitions, it is certain Hearnes didn't harm his own image when he was named Tuesday as chairman-elect of the National Governors Conference.

His election as chairman of the 1971 conference will be confirmed today in the closing session of the 70 conference at Tan-Tar-A resort.

The caucus of Democratic governors gave the job to Hearnes Tuesday.

Hearnes, obviously pleased with winning the post he had actively sought, said it was the second-highest honor he has received in his political career.

"I think probably the greatest thing that ever happened to me," Hearnes said, "was being elected governor by the people of my state. The second greatest thing is being selected by your colleagues."

Loading of Nerve Gas Continues

SUNNY POINT, N.C. (AP) — Longshoremen today continued loading vaults of deadly nerve gas aboard a rusting Liberty ship that the Army wants to sink in the Atlantic Ocean next Tuesday.

Rain delayed work nearly three hours Wednesday and only 53 of the 48 concrete-and-steel coffins were hoisted aboard the 442-foot LeBaron Russell Briggs, which was brought out of mothballs last week.

The Army had hoped to load 80 vaults Wednesday. Officials said if there was no additional rain delay the job should be completed on schedule Friday.

Commercial tugs are to begin Sunday towing the Briggs toward a point 283 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla. There, on Tuesday, plans are for seven valve ports to be opened and the bulk to sink slowly in 16,000 feet of water, in an area where the Army has scuttled obsolete bombs and munitions for years.

In Washington Wednesday, Judge June L. Green of U.S. District Court ordered hearings today on a suit by Florida Gov. Claude Kirk and the Environmental Defense Fund to block the dumping. They seek a temporary restraining order until the Army demonstrates in court that it has chosen the safest possible location and that all possible environmental consequences have been considered.

Col. Jack Osick, deputy director of chemical and nuclear operations for the Army chief of staff, said: "If the court grants the injunction, we would look to the courts to tell us how to dispose of this dangerous material."

1968 caused no apparent harm to marine life. Encased in the coffins are 12,540 rockets of GB nerve gas and a land mine containing 10.5 pounds of VX nerve gas. Both gases can kill in minutes.

River Stages

Osick said the area off Florida was selected by the St. Louis National Academy of Sciences Chester after that body determined that the nerve gas was in an unstable Cairo condition requiring quick New Madrid disposal.

"The academy named this Memphis spot because of its great depth, because it is close to the port, Caruthersville will rise 0.2 ft. by Friday, 0.1 ft. by Saturday and as far as marine life is concerned 0.6 ft. by Sunday morning, and because it is mapped on maritime charts as a munitions 0.8 ft. by Friday ... 0.2 ft. by dumping area," the colonel Saturday and 0.1 ft. by Sunday explained.

He said no nerve gas has been scuttled in this area. But he said will rise slightly at Fisk next 24 the dumping of more than 14,000 hours and rise moderately at St. vaults off New Jersey in 1967 and Francis next few days.
